1 A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

2 To create and establish the Constitutional Convention Study Commission to undertake all

3 necessary study to examine the feasibility and advisability of calling a convention

4 to revise the Constitution of Louisiana and, if a convention is found to be feasible

5 and advisable, to make recommendations to the legislature for calling such a 6 convention.

7 WHEREAS, at twelve midnight on December 31, 1974, the Constitution of the state

8 of Louisiana of 1974 became effective, culminating a remarkable effort to provide the state

9 with a completely new constitution that today is recognized as having made landmark

10 changes; namely, shortening the state's constitution from two hundred fifty-five thousand

11 words to a mere thirty-five thousand words, providing for a dramatic reorganization of the 12 executive branch of state government, making very significant changes in local government

13 and in home rule government in particular, taking steps to strengthen the legislature, and

14 removing many detailed provisions which had precluded legislative action without an

15 accompanying constitutional amendment; and

16 WHEREAS, in the ensuing thirty-seven years, however, the constitution has been

17 amended one hundred sixty-three times, and as a result, today the document contains, not

18 only the problematic provisions which the 1973 convention found itself unable or unwilling

19 to address, but additional provisions that protect narrow interests from legislative action

20 despite changing times and needs and that tie the hands of the legislature in its efforts to

21 effect significant reforms; and

1 WHEREAS, various authorities have suggested the need for Louisiana to address a 2 number of policy areas that would require constitutional change, including such matters as 3 the state's tax structure and budgetary practices, dedication of state revenues and the 4 resulting inability of the legislature to allocate tax resources where needed, as well as fiscal 5 restraints on local governments that dramatically limit their authority to meet fiscal and 6 budgetary demands; and

7 WHEREAS, as was the case in 1973, Louisiana once again faces the need for a 8 serious analysis of its basic law, and it must determine whether a constitutional convention
9 is needed and would be the most effective approach to: conducting a genuine examination 10 of the state's critical needs, undertaking an in-depth discussion of reform concepts, crafting 11 provisions that allow for flexibility and innovation in legislative solutions to problems of the 12 present and the future, and challenging Louisiana's voters to accept constructive change; and

13 WHEREAS, prior to calling a constitutional convention, it would also be wise to 14 undertake appropriate study and analysis to enable effective decisions concerning details of 15 convention composition, organization, procedure, staffing, and other resources.

16 THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Legislature of Louisiana does hereby 17 create and establish the Constitutional Convention Study Commission to undertake all study 18 and analysis necessary for a complete examination of the feasibility and advisability of 19 calling a constitutional convention to revise the Constitution of Louisiana and, if a 20 convention is found to be feasible and advisable, to make recommendations to the legislature 21 for calling such a convention, including such matters as:

22 (1) The composition of the membership of the convention.

2 made to develop a constitution that will serve the state effectively, including any limitations
3 on the authority of the convention.

5 structure.
